Membership Policies

Jenkins Law Library's membership runs on a twelve-month cycle.

Law firms are required to join at the 100% level. Participation at the 100% level means that membership dues are paid for every attorney in the firm. The membership fee structure is based on the premise that research performed by one attorney in a firm benefits the entire organization. Members are responsible for keeping us informed of any personnel changes.

Jenkins Membership Cards are permanent cards and are not reissued annually or when changing firms.

Please Note:

Dues are non-refundable and membership may not be shared or transferred to another individual. An employee's membership is no longer valid if that employee transfers to a firm that does not subscribe to the membership program. Members of a firm (attorneys, law clerks, paralegals, secretaries, etc.) that do not subscribe to the membership program are unable to use any library services.
